Snubs White House, Own Leaders

Senate Puts Ban On Aid To Yugoslavia And UAR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Turning its back on the White House and on its own leaders, the Senate has voted to ban aid to Yugoslavia and the United Arab Republic.

Despite administration wishes for a free hand, the Senate Thursday nailed these prohibitions into the foreign aid authorization bill and approved another amendment to keep the lid on assistance to Indonesia.

For good measure, the Senate approved still another ban on aid—this to nations whose fishing policies "violate freedom of the seas."

Administration forces clearly were reeling as the Senate closed up shop after its first night session since taking up foreign aid a week ago Monday.

The slow and rocky road to passage of the $3,742,365,000 measure is strewn with 47 additional amendments, aimed either at paring the authorization or restricting how the funds be used.

A voice vote brought home the amendment to deny President Kennedy any discretion to provide military or economic assistance to Communist Yugoslavia.

Administration forces plan to fight later to restore the President's discretion to provide most-favored-nation trade treatments for Yugoslavia and Poland, barred last year by Congress.

But Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., is ready with an amendment to cut off all aid to Yugoslavia except for some surplus food and for assistance to American schools, hospitals and libraries.

And Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, said he will offer an amendment to wipe out completely the President's discretion to aid any Communist country under any circumstance.

Under present law foreign aid cannot be given Yugoslavia, Poland and other Communist countries unless the President determines the assistance is vital to the security of the United States, the recipient is not controlled by the Kremlin and that the aid will promote the country's independence.

Thursday night's fight came on the amendment by Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, to bar help to any nation which the President determines is engaging in or preparing for aggressive action against the United States or any country receiving U.S. assistance. Identical to a provision in the House-passed bill, it was approved 65-13.

Gruening and other sponsors made clear the amendment was aimed at the United Arab Republic, which has sent troops into Yemen.

The amendment prohibiting a resumption of now - suspended aid to Indonesia unless the President should determine it essential to the United States' national interest was adopted without a protest.

Earlier the Senate voted 57-29 to ban foreign aid to any nation that asserts fishing jurisdiction beyond limits recognized by the United States.

This move, sponsored by Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., was aimed mainly at Ecuador, Chile and Peru, which have claimed jurisdiction 200 miles seaward. Kuchel said some American vessels have been seized and their crews fined and jailed.

Goldwater Nod Seen In Hampshire

Cotton Sees Victory Despite Early Drive By Rockefeller

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's top New Hampshire backer said today he thinks the conservative lawmaker will win that state's first - in - the - nation presidential primary despite the early campaign launched by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Sen. Norris Cotton of New Hampshire said he looks for "a fine aggressive" Rockefeller campaign.

But the Goldwater lieutenant added: "We don't want an early campaign. We want a campaign that steadily intensifies until the end. And I'm just optimistic to think that we can carry New Hampshire."

Goldwater, who tops polls in New Hampshire and across the nation on the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, stuck to the no-comment policy he has followed since Rockefeller declared himself a candidate Thursday.

The New York governor made his announcement in Albany, N.Y., then flew to New Hampshire for two days of campaigning.

"I know I am the underdog in the polls," he said in Nashua, N.H., "but if one comes into politics because of his belief in principles, then whether you are ahead or behind in the polls doesn't matter."

In New York, former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said Rockefeller is the logical man to head the 1964 GOP ticket.

Dewey—who made two unsuccessful bids for the White House—said Rockefeller's leadership "and remarkable achievements in New York make him the logical Republican candidate for president and I wish him every success."

Goldwater has not said whether he will seek the nomination. The Arizona senator has promised an announcement by Jan. 27.

And if he does become a candidate, Goldwater said in Concord, N.H., 10 days ago, he will enter the March 10 New Hampshire primary and campaign actively in the state.

A candidate's consent is not required to put his name on the ballot in New Hampshire.

Cotton, top name among Goldwater supporters in New Hampshire, said he always has believed Rockefeller would be "a very formidable candidate" in the primary. But he added "I feel that Sen. Goldwater will carry New Hampshire."

Cotton said a defeat in that primary could knock Rockefeller out of contention for the nomination.

Income Tax Charges Filed Against 14 More

Charges alleging violation of the city income tax ordinance were filed today in Municipal Court against 14 more East Liverpool residents by D. G. Wilkinson, tax commissioner.

The court will set dates for the hearings when it prepares summonses that will be served on the defendants. The affidavits allege the 14 failed to file final returns on 1962 income or estimates on 1963 earnings.

"Twenty-five or 30 more charges will be filed later," Wilkinson said. "We will continue until every single violation has been taken care of." Approximately 50 tax violation charges have been filed in the last two months.

J. E. Lewis Hit As Roof Piece Falls

Coroner's Inquest Set Into Fatality At Newell Facility

John E. Lewis, 56, of Wellsville died Thursday night at 8 in City Hospital of injuries received a short while before when struck by a piece of clay that fell from the roof of the Globe Brick Co.'s mine in Newell.

The accident happened at 7:20 while Mr. Lewis, a resident of 315 Ridge Ave., was working about two and a half miles back in the tunnel of the clay mine.

Fellow workers said he had completed tamping and wiring dynamite in the face of the mine preparatory to blasting away when a large piece of clay outcropping fell from the mine roof.

Hancock County Coroner John D. Herron said the miner was knocked to the floor by the piece of clay, and it came to rest on his legs. The other workers removed him from under the outcropping in a matter of minutes, Herron said.

Mr. Lewis was rushed to City Hospital and died in the emergency room at 8 of head, chest and spinal injuries.

Herron impaneled a six-member coroner's jury that will conduct the inquest Nov. 20 at Chester City Hall. Named were Jerrold Wilson, Lee Haney, Blaine Dotson, Richard Shingler, Harry Huff and Glenn Logston.

Mr. Lewis was born March 30, 1907, in Toronto to Mrs. Bessie Gritton Lewis of Toronto and the late Raymond Lewis.

In addition to his mother, he leaves his widow, Mrs. Lova Peckins Lewis, and a son, Jack Lewis, both at home, and a sister, Mrs. Howard (Myrtle) Logan of Toronto.

U.S. Speeds Recognition To Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States hurried its recognition of South Viet Nam's new government on the urging of U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, officials said today.

Along with the recognition Thursday, U.S. officials immediately began considering resumption of foreign aid which had been throttled down in an effort to force the old Diem regime to ease its anti-Buddhist campaign.

Lodge urged a speed up in the U.S. recognition procedure primarily because of increased Communist operations against the provisional government which seized power last weekend, officials said.

The Saigon regime announced that Communist Viet Cong agents were infiltrating the capital city in an attempt to create disorder which could be blamed on the government changeover.

The United States followed Great Britain's lead in bestowing recognition to the new regime.

In New Hampshire

Drive Continued By Rockefeller

NASHUA, N.H. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller continued today his all-out campaign to "get out and meet the people and discuss the issues" in the highly strategic New Hampshire primary.

His initial efforts as a formal candidate were hampered by driving rain. But he kept a fast-moving pace.

The New York governor's schedule contained visits to three industrial plants to meet workers and the opening in Concord of the first, official Rockefeller - for - president headquarters.

The governor, 55, announced Thursday at the New York capital in Albany his official candidacy for the Republican nomination for president.

He then plunged immediately into his campaign to win the New Hampshire presidential preference primary next March 10.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona was vacationing at an undisclosed hideaway but an aide in Washington said Rockefeller's announcement has n't changed the conservative Republican senator's plans.

Goldwater has yet to announce if he will seek the GOP presidential nomination. He paid a brief visit—billed as non-political—to New Hampshire recently and said he would enter the state's primary if he decides to seek the nomination.

And there is talk in Washington that a white-haired lady from Maine may enter the New Hampshire GOP presidential primary. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith said Thursday she is considering entering some primaries to offer voters a "third choice" between Rockefeller and Goldwater.

That primary will be the first of the 1964 election campaigns and the winner will gain an important victory in the GOP competition for the right to challenge Democratic President Kennedy.

Rockefeller entered the campaign a decided underdog. Goldwater is rated the favorite for New Hampshire's GOP convention support.

Weekend May See Start Of Good Rain

Skies will clear tonight but more rain is forecast over the weekend.

In fact, the Ohio weatherman said about half an inch of rain is expected Saturday night or Sunday and Monday, which would be the heaviest precipitation in about two months.

But the milder weather will continue until mid - week, according to the five-day forecast, and temperatures will average six to eight degrees above normal. Tonight's low range will be 38 to 43 degrees and Saturday will be sunny and a little warmer. The downtown had 46 degrees at 7 a.m. accompanied by a mist and drizzle. It will climb to 53 to 58 today.

Earlier, Harris had been sentenced to two jail terms of three months and six months and fined $500 and costs on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and operating an auto after his driver's license had been suspended.

When Lillie assumed the blame, Judge Chertoff dismissed the charges against Harris. Then he ordered charges filed against Lillie, based on the testimony that freed Harris.

Judge Chertoff reiterated today that he did not believe Lillie's testimony, but said the court must accept it as true because there was nothing to offset it.

British Chief Captures Seat In Commons

9,328-Vote Margin May Take Sting Out Of Party's Defeat

PERTH, Scotland (AP) — British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home won a seat in the House of Commons today by a whopping 9,328-vote margin which he hoped would take some sting out of a bad Conservative party defeat in another special election.

Defeat of the prime minister in the safe Conservative district of Kinross and West Perthshire would have been unprecedented disaster for the Conservatives and would have plunged Britain into a government crisis.

Instead Douglas-Home's big victory was a psychological counter to his party's loss Thursday night, by another big margin, of the Commons seat for the district of Luton.

The Perthshire vote was: Douglas-Home, 14,147; Alastair Duncan Millar, Liberal, 4,819; Andrew Forrester, Laborite, 3,752; Arthur Donaldson, Scottish Nationalist, 1,801; Ian Smith, Independent, 78; William Rushton, Independent, 45; and Richard Wort, Independent, 23.

In a three-sided race in the 1959 general election, the Conservatives won the same district by a 12,000-vote margin. No one had expected them to come anywhere near that figure this time.

The 60-year-old prime minister was a member of the House of Lords until he renounced his earldom to succeed Harold Macmillan.

4 Uninjured As Auto Hits Rails, Burns

A Wellsville youth and three sisters escaped in jury late Thursday afternoon when their car spun out of control and ripped into guardrails along Route 39 near Wellsville and caught fire.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Donald Bunfill, 17, of 303 Wells Ave., Wellsville, was driving west about seventenths of a mile west of the city when he lost control on a curve at 5:35 p.m.

The 1955 auto spun around and into the guardrails, damaging about 20 feet of the rails, officers said, and then ignited.

Wellsville firemen were summoned to quell the flames which destroyed the auto. It had been partially damaged by the impact with the guardrails.

The driver, along with Dian Lynn Bunfill, Karen Bunfill, 12, and Carla Sue Bunfill, 6, passengers, escaped injury, officers said.

They were en route to visit another sister, Mrs. Robert Smith, of East Liverpool R. D. 1, the family said.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bunfill of Wells Ave.

Lillie had testified he volunteered to drive Harris to his home in East End from a Chester boat dock because Harris had been drinking. After the crash, Lillie said he became frightened and fled.

'Club Immunity' Still Sails On Beery Deep (Ohio River)

NEW CUMBERLAND — West Virginia and Ohio authorities are in a quandary over who can arrest whom on a floating bar anchored on the Ohio River between Hancock County and Jefferson County.

The bar is on a boat called the Ft. Steuben Boat Club. Sheriff's departments in both counties have been busy answering calls about a series of disturbances at the club over the weekend.

The boat is moored on the Ohio shore line, but an Ohio liquor inspector was told it was in West Virginia when he came to call.

Toronto city police made one arrest at the club, but the case was dismissed because the boat was outside the city.

All the river on the West Virginia side of an arbitrarily set low water mark on the Ohio shore is in West Virginia. The location of the low water mark often is questioned, however.

Jefferson County Sheriff George L. Huscroft said the boat has neither an Ohio liquor license nor a West Virginia beer license. Sale of whisky by the drink is illegal in West Virginia.

Toby, The Pooch, Has Race With Stork, Wins By Note

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—It was 4 o'clock on a silent, foggy Thursday morning. Mrs. Tommy Coe had a problem.

She was having labor pains—seven minutes apart.

Her husband was gone with the family automobile, working as a night watchman at a tugboat towing firm nearly two miles away.

There was no telephone in the Coe house, only the couple's four small children and the family pooch, Toby.

Toby!

Mrs. Coe quickly scribbled a note on the back of a scrap of paper, put it in an envelope and attached it to Toby's collar.

Minutes later the pooch—his mixed ancestors would have been proud of him—skidded into the boat yard where Coe was making his rounds.

Coe said he was angry at seeing the dog, which never roamed at night, and greeted Toby with language befitting a longshoreman.

But Toby sat, wagged his tail, and held his ground.

Then Coe noticed the envelope. He tore it open. The note read:

"Honey, come home. I have pains seven minutes apart."

Coe sped home, gathered up his wife and raced to the hospital where the fifth Coe child—a girl—was born a few hours later.

"I'm going to name her Toby," said the proud father.

Why Washington Moves In

A few words of comment about the grisly fate that overlook money issues at many local levels over Ohio at the polls last Tuesday.

Think how different things would be if national money issues also were decided by popular vote.

Historians cite suppression of the Pennsylvania Whisky Rebellion in 1794 as the beginning of federal authority. Until then, the new government in Washington had not proved it could collect taxes.

No one could be sure until an uprising of western Pennsylvania farmers against a tax on whisky had been put down by federal troops that the United States could assert federal authority over local affairs.

From that time forward, the right of the federal government to levy and collect taxes has been absolute. This has given rise to a rule of taxation — that the more remote the taxing authority and the less the people have to say about it the greater the yield from taxation.

WASHINGTON can collect and spend billions and go into debt by additional billions without a murmur of opposition. But let local government try to resolve the issue of spending thousands and there will be a free-for-all.

The United States can pour more than $2½ billion into South Viet Nam, billions into Yugoslavia and Korea, tens of billions into France, Japan, West Germany and Spain, and there scarcely will be a question asked. But let citizens go to bat for an improvement at the local level, such as a new school building, and they will find themselves in a battle with less than a 50-50 chance to win.

"Taxes are too high!" goes the stock protest of the opponents. But they are not referring in most cases to confiscatory taxes collected by the federal government, or to onerous taxes of state government. They are talking about relatively minor local taxes.

Yet, these are the taxes that give them most for their money — the taxes they resist most fiercely.

THIS IS HOW the federal government moved into public spending.

It can collect and disperse with a minimum of friction. It can build highways, tear down slums, pay for relief and underwrite public works programs. It can offer money for local schools, hospitals, local housing, local flood control — local everything. And why?

Because it does not have to ask popular consent. If it runs short of cash, it can plunge into debt. And when it has plunged the limit, it has only to send word to Congress to have the limit expanded.

This is the story of federal encroachment on local sovereignty. It is the story of state encroachment on local sovereignty. The difficulty of raising money by local popular consent is the secret.

THE MORE remote the taxing authority, the more money it can raise.

In Ohio, no difficulty was encountered in raising $250 million to put up college buildings, help local school districts, improve recreational facilities and aid water conservation. The people, themselves, said it was OK.

In Washington, in the meantime, billions are thrown around as if money was going out of style — and taxpayers have nothing to say about it at all.

More Good News

With a $10-million expansion program in the offing and with sales and earnings figures more than satisfactory, the news from the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. adds a happy note to the area's economic outlook.

With its big payroll, Crucible is a key factor in whether it's to be prosperity or bad times at many district homes. Thursday's announcement clearly spelled "prosperity."

Long-established, busy industries too often are taken for granted. Generally, it's only when they talk of expansion or cutbacks that we pause and reflect as to their importance.

Thanks to sound and energetic management at many levels, it's a real pleasure to pause and reflect at this time about the Midland Works.

Mrs. Smith Went To Washington

We expect jut-jawed politicians to take a sour view of the pretty trial balloons being hoisted for Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, the charming Republican from Maine.

These fellows will shift their 25-cent cigars and make it known in words of unmistakable meaning that they want to hear no more nonsense about a woman vice presidential candidate, which is what it says on the trial balloons — Margaret Chase Smith for second place on the Republican ticket in 1964.

But while the politicians are shifting their cigars, we're rolling the idea of a lady vice presidential candidate back and forth on a sampling tongue. Maggie Smith for vice president . . . sounds good. Hmm.

As we understand it, politicians try to balance the ticket. A nominee from Maine would balance a nominee from anywhere, Maine being off by itself.

And a nominee from the "opposite sex" — what could be more balancing than that? It is such an engaging idea, in fact, that the Democrats may have to come up with a potential lady nominee of their own, lest Margaret Chase Smith round out this new image of Republicanism that is utterly charming to all who have grown tired of all the old images.

Is There Anything Sadder?

By Election Day the outdoor advertising used in the 1963 campaign season was looking the worse for wear.

Last year's advertising was looking tacky. Relics from two years ago looked terrible.

No one ever has made a strong point about this, but there may even be fragments and tatters of campaign posters dating from campaigns of as long as five years ago. The life span of this stuff is indeterminate.

It could be made determinate in a hurry with a simple twist of the rules.

Every candidate for public office intending to promote his campaign with outdoor advertising could be required to post a performance bond to guarantee his signs would be displayed according to regulations covering all other kinds of signs and providing that the bond would be forfeited if the signs were not removed within several days after election.

We had in mind a bond of not less than $100, to make sure the signs would be taken down. With a bond of that size required, fewer signs would be put up in the first place.

Is anything sadder on a rainy November day than bedraggled posters hanging limply from trees and poles and all the other places where they were displayed, many of them illegally. Especially if the candidate lost?

Price Of Progress

By Truman Twill

For the comfort it may give the economic soothsayers, this is a story about the cause of booms in this republic.

In a climate unreliable even in summer, many housewives finally tire of gambling on weather nice enough to dry clothes outside.

Furthermore, the ever-growing efficiency of central heating systems makes clothes-drying in basement a chancier thing than it was when these old coal furnaces threw off enough heat to dry clothes overnight in the basement.

Hence, the rush to buy automatic drying machines.

The lady who flips the switches on the automatic machinery at the Twillery finally said she wanted a dryer, too.

So much for the overtone.

THE PLACE where the dryer needed to be was occupied by an old-fashioned double laundry tub—the kind common before automatic washing machines. It was in the way. The archaic plumbing that went with it had not been satisfactory in recent years either.

The neighborhood plumber saw what needed to be done and promised to take care of everything. He did the job up brown, with shiny copper tubes, bronze valves—the works. Also a new kind of tub, easy to clean, handy to use.

Complications developed with electricity in a house whose component parts have been assembled piecemeal during a century of trial and error. Some of the electrical system dated back to Thomas A. Edison in person.

Experts said the steady accretion of electrical appliances had overtaxed the system's capacity and the dryer would be the draw that would break the system's back.

This was confirmed by a trial run, with fuses going ptt like cats in a dog kennel.

When the electrician was through and the power company had backed up his efforts with a larger meter, the cost of the dryer was 64 per cent of the cost of getting it into operation, and nothing has been said yet about putting down a new floor and painting the place where the sink used to be.

FURTHER complications will follow. The prospect makes a fellow remember when women dried clothes in winter on the back porch and beat them with a stick to limber them up. It makes a fellow remember how it felt to be lost in the dark in a basementfull of wet long johns and dank sheets in the dark.

And helping to take down the washing in summer showers. And when the neighbors burned leaves in the Spring and Fall. And how hoboes augmented their linen supply on saunters through back yards. And the crudities of the contraptions that once passed for modern laundry equipment, going back to iron kettles hanging from tripods over wood fires and washboards that toughened every woman's knuckles.

No wonder they never used to have booms. They never had a chance to pay the price of progress.

Coastal swamps and a maze of rivers, streams and natural canals give Tabasco state in Mexico a superabundance of water.

Just Won't Let It Roll

A Visitor Who Will Be Welcome

By Victor Riesel

When President Kennedy speaks to the AFL-CIO convention in New York later this month, there will be in his audience a quiet, truly self-effacing visitor from Viet Nam—a man who, though unknown to the world, can swiftly stir Vietnamese workers and peasants into a militant war on the Communists, speed the cutting of secret Viet Cong secret food supply lines; expose guerrilla hiding places, and eventually save the lives of many young GIs.

The expected Vietnamese visitor is Tranquoc Buu. He is president of the Vietnamese Confederation of Christian Labor, Vietnam's biggest union organization. It has more than 300,000 members and is considered one of the most aggressive anti-Communist forces in the Orient.

Tranquoc Buu's movement is affiliated with the worldwide International Federation of Christian Trade Unions. Though little known in the United States, this global federation has 4.3 million members in 66 national organizations in 60 countries.

It helped fight the Communists, first under the French and then under the Diem regime.

MR. BUU ISN'T a Christian and 90 per cent of his followers are Buddhists. Because of the rocky condition of their country's economy, the federation's leaders put their organization in business to help prevent collapse of the industrial and commercial system. It sells huge quantities of coffee and the basic Vietnamese food ingredient "Nouc Man" (a fish extract sauce).

The labor federation controls warehouses, acts as a contractor for housing construction and runs a large automobile insurance company.

Buu's strength also springs from a number of well-organized unions of plantation and transport workers — which the Viet Cong would like to destroy. The railroad workers are also in Buu's federation.

There is a feeling in American circles that the strengthening of Buu's position and authority would give the anti-Communist forces the psychological and political weapons needed to fight off the Viet Cong right out in the fields which become Communist strongholds at night.

Prize Dawdler

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Congress just got a belt in the face by one of its own members for not getting done with the work it was sent to Washington to do.

This is not the first Congress to drag its feet. But this one is a prize dawdler. This week Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., attacked the do-nothing performance of Democrats and Republicans alike, and lashed the leaders.

It was like an echo, but more ferocious, of President Roosevelt's anger when he got fed up with the "good fellowship" in Congress and complained to his own Democratic House leaders.

Roosevelt's complaint was in a letter to Speaker Sam Rayburn and the then House majority leader, John McCormack, the present speaker who succeeded Rayburn. Roosevelt said:

"What I want to get across to both of you before the next session begins is that good fellowship for the sake of good fellowship alone, an easy life to avoid criticism, an acceptance of defeat before an issue has been joined, make, all of them, less for party success and for national safety than a few drag-down and knock-out fights and an unwillingness to accept defeat without a fight."

Since Congress hadn't been able to get its work done in day sessions, Roosevelt suggested they have night sessions, too.

And that was one of Dodd's ideas this week.

The 56-year-old Dodd, one-time FBI agent and government prosecutor, is serving his first Senate term. His freshman status didn't deter him. He started off by asking: "Why are we not working later?"

In one of the greatest understatement of the year he said: "I am conscious of the fact that my statement will be construed as criticizing the leadership and, indeed, I am." This was his complaint, boiled down.

Congress isn't doing what it is being paid to do, which is work; it is keeping bankers' hours while bills needed to produce money to run the government lie unpassed.

He said "of our major objectives this session—a tax cut, a civil rights bill, a general aid to education bill, and a medicare bill—none have a real chance of enactment this year."

All through his talk he tore at the Senate leaders of both parties: his own leader, Montana's Mike Mansfield of the Democrats, and Illinois' Everett M. Dirksen, the Republican leader.

Dodd first cushioned the blow on Mansfield by calling him gentle, then roundly condemned him for not doing his job of leading. He was even harsher on Dirksen, once called the "Wizard of Ooze" by one of his critics for his soothing voice.

Vote Post-Mortems

By David Lawrence

Is Kennedy Popularity On The Wane?

No matter what the Democratic party spokesmen say publicly, they are fully aware that Tuesday's elections across the country indicate less popularity for the Kennedy administration than had been assumed from public opinion polls.

The president himself took a chance David Lawrence when he went to Philadelphia to campaign for the Democratic party's nominee for mayor. Maybe he saved Mayor Tate from defeat, but the fact remains that in 1955 the Democrats won by 132,000 majority and in 1959 by 210,000, whereas this week's majority is only about 61,000. Mr. Kennedy carried the city by 330,000 in 1960, and he needs at least 200,000 in Philadelphia in 1964 to overcome Republican majorities throughout the state.

Indiana showed a return to the Republican side in various cities that are usually Democratic. Republicans were elected as mayors in 62 cities in comparison with Democratic mayors in 49 cities. This contrasts with a previous ratio of 71 Democrats to 37 Republicans.

In New Jersey, the Republicans not only held their majority in the State Senate but picked up four more seats and also won a majority in the State Assembly, which had been Democratic.

In Kentucky, the Democrats won the gubernatorial race by only about 15,000 votes, as against Democratic majorities of 130,000 in 1959 and 128,000 in 1955.

So, on the face of it, the Democrats are in trouble in Pennsylvania, Kentucky, New Jersey and Indiana, whose combined electoral vote in the 1960 election amounted to 71. This is a sizable bloc by itself, but the state trends may emerge in other states.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, whenever the elections in off years seemed to go against him, used to say this was due to "local issues" and "local" candidates.

This is to a large extent true today, but there can be no doubt that, in this week's election, local issues with national overtones did have much to do with the outcome.

IN PHILADELPHIA, an almost solid Negro vote was cast for the Democratic mayoralty nominee, as was also a large percentage of certain minority groups sympathetic to the President's stand on the "civil rights" issue, but the overall losses sustained by the Democrats due to resentment over the handling of racial questions undoubtedly reflected something more than a local condition.

In Kentucky, too, the racial issue was prominent in the voters' minds, as indicated by the agitation over an executive order issued recently by the incumbent Democratic governor prohibiting racial discrimination in public accommodations.

Even in Boston, a five-member school board was reelected which had refused to accede to demands of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that alleged existence of racial imbalance in the schools be acknowledged.

One does not have to become involved in the civil rights controversy itself to recognize that there are deep-seated feelings involved and that party lines will be broken at the polling booths in 1964, too, as a result of the debate on racial questions.

NATIONALLY the national Democratic leaders, including the President, give the press statements of comment on the latest election to indicate that they are "satisfied" or that they made "gains."

They point, for instance, to a Democratic mayor being elected for the first time in Cincinnati, as well as a victory in Youngstown, and call it a "tide."

But the professional comments do not erase the figures and the shifts that were noted throughout the country. For many months now the Democrats have been trying to create the impression that Mr. Kennedy would win in 1964 by a landslide.

The election returns this week, however, do not indicate any such tide running. In fact, there is evidence that the civil rights issue, as well as unemployment in scattered but important areas, has produced a voter discontent that cannot be brushed aside as irrelevant.

The Democratic national chairman, John M. Bailey, in his post-election statement insists that "Republican efforts to drag civil rights into the arena of partisan politics failed to bring them victory in the northern city of Philadelphia and in the border state of Kentucky." But politicians privately will agree that all is not well.

THEY KNOW an emotional issue doesn't disappear overnight and that there are enough manifestations of discontent in the electorate to cause considerable change in the voting trends next time in the North-eastern cities.

So the Philadelphia result will be examined and re-examined in the months to come to determine what really happened in the City of Brotherly Love.

One thing seems to have been overlooked perhaps. It is that the people of any city don't like to see a president of the United States coming to their community to tell them for whom they should vote in choosing a mayor.

Disapproval of this kind of intrusion has been voiced again and gain in the past when presidents have tried to interfere in local affairs.

The election this week was no exception, and hence the narrow margin for the incumbent.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I want to commend Alvin Clutter and Wilbur Staley of Chester for their fine work guiding the Midget football competition this fall.

However, this excellent work with youth needs more public support. On nights when the teams play not enough is dropped into the hat, when it is passed, to pay for a light bulb, let alone to pay for the electricity that is used at a game.

People keep saying in one way or another, "Why doesn't someone do more to help your young people in this morally dangerous age?" Midget football is an additional effort to help young people. It deserves wholehearted, pocket-deep public support.

Comedian's Wife Ignored Police, Then Lost Gems

NEW YORK (AP)—Mary Livingston, wife of comedian Jack

Benny, might not have lost $200,000 worth of jewels to a robber if she had accepted police protection, says Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy.

A man robbed Miss Livingston Nov. 2 in her suite at the Hotel Pierre. Benny had left earlier for an appearance in Pittsburgh. Miss Livingston was not harmed.

Murphy said Thursday the Bennys have not been the only celebrities to reject offers of protection.

A similar case of refusal where a theft later occurred, Murphy said. Involved Patrice Wymore, widow of Errol Flynn. Two fur coats valued at $8,000 were stolen Oct. 4 from her Drake Hotel suite.

Plan

Ohio communities and the federal government in the requests for U.S. aid. The City Planning Commission decided several months ago to recommend that the contract be awarded the firm of Carroll V. Hill Associates of Columbus and Pittsburgh, one of several that filed proposals.

In another facet of the "master plan" negotiations, Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper advised Council in a caucus session last night that the size of the Planning Commission must be cut from seven to five members to bring it in line with state law.

Unless the city has a Planning Commission that meets all the requirements of state law, its negotiations with the Development Department and the federal government would be made difficult or impossible, the solicitor said.

In addition, as work on the "master plan" moves ahead, the Planning Commission will be involved in zoning, housing codes, hiring and other activities that could be questioned if it were not constituted legally under the laws of the state, he said.

The board now is comprised of four "citizen" members, the mayor, the director and the chairman of the Board of Thompson Park Commissioners, Cooper explained.

The state law provides that the chairman of the board of park commissioners shall be a member if the park board is set up according to state law, Cooper said. But a park commission, under state law, can be created only by a vote of the people. It has broad powers over parks, boulevards, playgrounds and such facilities.

East Liverpool's Board of Thompson Park Commissioners is not a park commission in the eyes of the state law because it has jurisdiction only over Thompson Park, not all the items spelled out in state law, and it was not created by a vote of the people, Cooper explained.

Cooper recommended that Council amend the City Code to provide for a Planning Commission comprised of the mayor, director and three "citizen" members, eliminating the Thompson Park Commission chairman and one of the "citizen" members.

The "citizen" members would serve six-year terms, as at present. In the initial appointments, one member would be named for the two years, one for four years and one for six years, so that the expiration dates would be staggered, he recommended.

By this action, Judge Louis Tobin, Thompson Park Commission chairman, and one of the present "citizen" members would be removed. The choice of the "citizen" who would step down would be up to the mayor as the appointing authority.

In addition to Judge Tobin, the present membership of the commission is Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Safety - Service Director Robert Owen and the four "citizens" — E. L. Wheatley, William Rea, George Steele and Don Eckert, chairman.

In announcing his ruling, Cooper commented that the Planning Commission "has done a wonderful job."

"The fact there were seven members on the board didn't hamper its work," he said. "In fact, I believe it was helpful."

Councilman George Willshaw, president pro tem, polled the members at Cooper's request on the question of reducing the commission's size. The vote was unanimous for enactment of the legislation at the next regular meeting Nov. 18.

Eckert thanked Council for providing the additional funds for the city's share of the "master plan" contract. Councilman

Edward Massey commended the Planning Commission for the many months' investigation that led to choice of a firm to prepare the "master plan."

There were so many delays and discouragements that many men would have given up, Massey declared.

Councilman Kenneth C. Berg, who is in a Veterans Administration Hospital at Pittsburgh, was excused. All members of the Planning Commission attended except Mayor Goodballet and Rea. Mayor-elect Merrill Hall also attended.

Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana, chairman, said this morning the tabulation is moving on schedule and the board expects it will be finished "sometime tonight." The official canvass was launched Thursday morning.

Most closely watched of the East Liverpool races in the official count is the one - vote margin by which Donald E. Smith of Woodbine Ave., Gardendale, a Democrat, apparently defeated Councilman S. James Welch, the Republican incumbent, in the race for the Third Ward seat.

In the other, George E. Willshaw, Republican, apparently won the Council presidency by a 21-vote margin over Arch H. Smith, Democrat. Willshaw now is a councilman - at - large.

If Welch or Smith decide to seek a recount, they will have five days following certification of the count to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown. After an application has been filed, the board notifies both principals and sets a date for the new tabulation.

The official count will cover returns from all 165 Columbiana County precincts. The tabulation made shortly after the polls closed Tuesday night was complete, but unofficial.

Board To End Official Vote Tally Tonight

The outcome of two East Liverpool races decided by narrow margins continued to hang in the balance today as the County Election Board pushed ahead with an official canvass of returns from Tuesday's general election, expecting to complete the job sometime tonight.

Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana, chairman, said this morning the tabulation is moving on schedule and the board expects it will be finished "sometime tonight." The official canvass was launched Thursday morning.

Most closely watched of the East Liverpool races in the official count is the one - vote margin by which Donald E. Smith of Woodbine Ave., Gardendale, a Democrat, apparently defeated Councilman S. James Welch, the Republican incumbent, in the race for the Third Ward seat.

In the other, George E. Willshaw, Republican, apparently won the Council presidency by a 21-vote margin over Arch H. Smith, Democrat. Willshaw now is a councilman - at - large.

If Welch or Smith decide to seek a recount, they will have five days following certification of the count to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown. After an application has been filed, the board notifies both principals and sets a date for the new tabulation.

The official count will cover returns from all 165 Columbiana County precincts. The tabulation made shortly after the polls closed Tuesday night was complete, but unofficial.

Delila E. Gilson Becomes Bride In Boston Nuptials

The afternoon of Oct. 27 at 2 o'clock in Marsh Chapel at Boston University, Miss Delila Eunice Gilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Oscar Gilson of Crocker City Farms, became the bride of Ronald John Callahan, son of Mrs. Anna Chisholm of Somerville, Mass.

The Rev. Roger W. Johnson, pastor of the Brighton Ave. Congregational Church at Boston, officiated for the double wedding ceremony before an altar flanked by vases of white gladiolus. White satin bows and greenery marked the family pews.

Dr. Max B. Miller, a former instructor of the bride at the university, gave a half-hour organ recital preceding the ceremony. Miss Queen Anna Alajian of Boston, a former classmate, sang "The Wedding Prayer" preceding the rites and "The Song of Ruth" while the couple knelt on a white satin-covered prayer bench.

The bride was escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents.

She wore a gown of white bouffant satin with re-embroidered Alencon lace appliques accenting the bodice and skirt front. It was fashioned with a scooped neckline, long, tapered sleeves and a controlled skirt with back fullness which fell into a chapel train.

A matching pillow box accented with lace and tiny seed pearls and iridescent sequins held her ballerina-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and ivy clustered around a gardenia center.

Miss Joan Gilson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a ballerina-length gown of mint green chiffon, styled with short sleeves, softly draped cowl neckline and back panels, topped by self-fabric roses at the back waistline. Her narrow Dior bow with bouffant eyelash veil was in matching color. She carried a bouquet of gold Fuji mums, gold pompons and ivy.

Miss Virginia Callahan of Somerville, a sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Martha Gilson of Lisbon, a sister-in-law of the bride were bridesmaids. They were attired in dresses and carried bouquets similar to the maid of honor.

"Holiday Fantasies" will be the theme of the traditional parade, arranged by the Jaycees as part of the holiday program of the East Liverpool Merchants Association.

stop in the assured clear distance, on which he was fined $25 and costs, and leaving the scene of an accident, for which he was given the jail term. He had admitted both violations in his affidavit that freed Harris.

Atty. Foulks was given an opportunity to enter a plea in mitigation before his client was sentenced.

In coming forward and identifying himself, although Harris knew him only by the nickname, Lillie "displayed the qualities of the Old Testament prophets Amos and Moses," Atty. Foulks told the court. He also compared the incident to the legendary friendship of Damon and Pythias and used the names of ancient philosophers like Socrates and Plato.

"He came in voluntarily because he didn't want someone else to suffer," the defense counsel said.

"If we believed what has been said about Lillie, we would pin Boy Scout merit badges on him," Atty. Clark replied. Replying to the defense argument that invoked the names of Moses and Amos, he asked: "Did he ever hear of Judas? He certainly double-crossed this man (Harris) in the beginning."

"A man who runs from an accident is some kind of a bum," the solicitor continued. "He can't be compared with the prophets of old."

When the arguments ended, the judge told Lillie: "Stripped of all its verbiage, the case boils down to this: You didn't stop in the assured clear distance and you ran away from an accident. I doubt the veracity of your story, but there has been nothing introduced to offset it."

The judge threw in a Biblical reference to the Good Samaritan before pronouncing sentence.

"If you say you acted as a Good Samaritan, you should read the Bible," he said. "He never got the better end of the deal."

Annual Campaign Due

Scholarship Group Sets Plans For Spring Drive

Initial plans for the spring fund campaign of the Citizens Scholarship Foundation were discussed at a meeting of officers and trustees Thursday night at Westgate School.

A campaign chairman is to be named for the second annual drive for funds to provide college expenses for students in the seven area school districts.

However, industrial solicitation supervisors have been selected for the districts.

They are Jim Ashcroft for South Side, John Duffy for Beaver Local, Earl Rankin for Midland, Bill Farrell and Dan MacLean for Wellsville, Walter Jordan and Miss Betty Buben for north Hancock County and Joseph Coons and H. James Allison for East Liverpool.

Coons, president, and Allison, treasurer, along with Glenn Waight, trustee, were named a committee to select a general campaign chairman and vice president.

The group increased to $200 the amount of industrial contributions for which a scholarship will be named after a firm. A $100 contribution will provide a scholarship name for any retail business, organization or individual, the same as last year.

Arrangements were authorized for the bonding of the president, treasurer and campaign chairman as established in the recently-approved constitution.

Discussion was held on preparation of information material for the campaign, formation of a speakers' bureau and organization of the house-to-house solicitations, set tentatively for April.

About 15 attended. Next meeting will be in January.

Fight Injures LaCroft Man

A LaCroft man was injured and he and two others were cited as a result of a fight early today outside a Market St. tavern, police reported.

John Shaw, 56, of 3rd Ave., LaCroft, was treated at City Hospital for a cut on top of the head and abrasions of the face as an aftermath of the fight at 12:39 a. m. outside the Diamond Restaurant on the Diamond, officers said.

Charges of disorderly conduct by fighting were filed against Shaw, Kenneth E. Pierpoint of Beaver St. and Chester Holmes of Paden City. Shaw also was charged with intoxication. The affidavits were signed by Patrolman J. A. Walsh.

Patrolman L. E. Richard took Shaw to the hospital for treatment of the head wound. Released after treatment, he was returned to jail. Shaw was knocked to the sidewalk during the fight, striking his head. Officer Richard reported.

Pierpoint and Holmes posted $32.50 appearance bonds. Shaw was fined $25 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who imposed a fine of $10 and costs on Holmes. Pierpoint, 34, forfeited his bond.

Although he pleaded guilty, Holmes, 42, said he was acting in the role of a peace-maker between Pierpoint and Shaw.

Officer Walsh told the court he was on foot patrol in the Diamond when he saw Shaw run out of the Diamond Restaurant with Pierpoint in pursuit. The two scuffled on the sidewalk, he said. Then Holmes joined in the struggle, the officer related.

Man, 57, Leaps To Death Despite Minister's Plea

MARION, Ohio (AP)—While a Lutheran minister pleaded with him to stop, the 57-year-old manager of the Harding Hotel leaped to his death Thursday from the sixth floor of the hotel.

The coroner was investigating why Virgil F. Dye, manager of the hotel for 35 years, apparently took his own life.

Firemen received a call from the hotel desk clerk, who reported that a man was locked in a sixth floor room and it seemed he was going to jump out the window.

The Rev. Martin Hollensen, pastor of the Emanuel Lutheran Church, pleaded with Dye through the door of the room. Then Dye tumbled to his death falling between the wall and a ladder that firemen were setting up at the time.

Lawrenceville's Firemen To Buy New Furnace

Tri-State's was the lowest of three other bids received, firemen said.

A public fish fry will be held tonight at 8 at the station.

It was announced successors to Lawrence Haun, vice president, and Junior Keener, secretary, both of whom have resigned, will be named at Sunday's meeting.

Eleven attended. The group will meet again Nov. 21.

Rhodes Asks U.S. Okay For Ohio's Farmers On Hay

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Prompted by Ohio's record-breaking drought, Gov. James A. Rhodes has asked federal permission for Ohio farmers to harvest hay on soil bank lands.

"This suffering of hardship and damage can be alleviated if you permit hay growing on land currently under conservation reserve program contracts to be removed so that it will be available for feed," the governor told U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

Low permits Freeman to grant such permission on request from a producer and certification by the governor that a severe drought has occurred, Rhodes explained. He added that producers under soil bank contracts are prepared to make the necessary requests.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old girl who has been dating three different boys this last year. I'm not crazy about any of them but I have a stronger pull toward Frank — the one I'm figuring to drop.

Please tell me if I am wrong. My conscience is killing me.

Frank and I used to have fun together until he started to tell me his troubles. For the last several months he has turned every date into a psychiatric session. He hates his father, he can't stand his mother, his sister dominates him and his brother overshadows him.

I know Frank needs someone to listen to him but I'm not a psychiatrist and I can't give him any answers. He says he loves me and that is reason enough for me to love him in return.

I don't love him — in fact, he is beginning to depress me. Please tell me what to do — SHERRY.

Dear Sherry: My standard advice is to steer clear of people who have a bad effect on you — this means people who make you feel guilty, ashamed or depressed.

Frank needs to unload on someone but he should bend a professional ear, or at least a sympathetic one. Tell him goodbye.

They already have decorated the carpeting in two places. The damage is behind the sofa, fortunately, and is not noticeable. But now we can't change the furniture around on account of the spots.

Do we have the right to tell my mother-in-law she must keep the dogs in the kitchen? She tried it once and they cried so she let them out. My husband says he will do as you say. — MRS. NEW CARFETING.

Dear Mrs. New: Your mother-in-law's excuse that the dogs are not "trainable" is applesauce. What she means is that she cannot or will not train them.

Indeed you do have the right to insist that she keep the dogs in the kitchen. Better they should be crying in the kitchen than you should be crying in the living room.

Slovenly Neighbors

Dear Ann: Last February we moved into a fine neighborhood of lovely homes. The people next door moved into their half-finished home last May — and it still isn't finished. Also, they haven't picked up a thing that has been dropped into their yard all year.

Our patio faces their dingy wash which hangs out seven days a week. Every pole, brick, pipe, can, tire and broom that has been dragged into their carport by their kids is still lying around. I see all this junk from my kitchen window.

What can we do? We hate to build a fence tall enough to cut off this disgusting view. The people seem pleasant and we don't want to make them angry.

Do you think it would be all right for me to go over and clean up their yard myself? My husband says no. What do you say? — SORE EYES.

DEAR EYES: I say no, too. You have no right to go into your neighbor's yard without permission for any reason whatever.

Since the people seem pleasant, why not tell them next Monday is going to be cleanup day "for the neighborhood" and you hope they'll cooperate. When you go out Monday to rake a few leaves or shovel the snow, remind her that "today is the day."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Exercise Restores Muscle Tone

"What is the best way for an overweight to reduce in certain spots? Will exercise really do the trick?" This question is a natural. Obviously nobody wants to go to all the bother of taking calisthenics if they are not spot reducing.

My husband and I bought new carpeting last August. When my mother-in-law comes over she always brings the poodles and we just about have heart failure.

Regarding exercise as restoring tone to the figure — controlling muscles, with diet as the reducing measure, and you are on the right track. Calorie curbing is by far the most effective reducing measure. Also, when you reduce generally, nature tends to redistribute the fat. This is a rather slow process, however, and exercise can help things along.

On the reducing score, calories are used generally, not from specific areas. But stimulating the circulation in these fat padded spots is all to the good. Then, too, as tone is restored to soft muscles the figure shapes up.

BUT LET'S CUT OUT the quibbling. When you back up diet with specific exercise, you not only look better and feel better but you have abundant energy. With exercise you tone up as you slim down. Something dreary happens to your looks when you cut calories drastically and shun all exercise. It is then that friends ask if you are feeling all right, and warn you not to carry reducing too far.

Many of you ask about isometric exercises that guarantee instant streamlines. The principle of isometric contraction is sound. By holding the contraction to a slow count of six, muscle tone is increased without added effort. In short, you do not need to keep repeating an exercise movement more than a couple of times ... provided you hold the contraction. To make sure to breathe freely, count out loud ... never hold your breath.

Easy does it. Let's try a contraction action. Stretching, followed by a sustained contraction for a few seconds and a slow release, is most effective. A side — bend elongates the stretch, tones the boundary line muscles and increases flexibility. Position: Lying on back on floor, arms down at sides, legs straight down.

Stretch right arm back on floor beyond head as you lift right leg just slightly off floor and cross it over left. Touch toes to the floor at left side and hold. This bias stretch is slimming and toning. Perform with left leg and arm and repeat a second time, again holding the contraction.

Isometric contraction is certainly not the whole answer to our exercise requirements. In this tension filled age we desperately need some joyous form of liberating exercise that uses all the big muscles of the body. Pursue the kind of activity that enhances your feeling of well-being and you're on the healthy road to physical and mental fitness.

Send long stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet Wake Up And Stretch. Address request to Ida Jean Kain care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Deadline Dec. 15 To Write Santa

Postmaster Samuel W. Brown said today children writing before Dec. 15 to Santa Claus at "North Pole 99071", and using their name, address and proper Zip Code number on the envelope's return address, will receive a replay from the Old Gent.

However, he cautioned youngsters that after Dec. 15 it will be too late to get the mail to North Pole.

The envelopes must be addressed: Santa Claus, North

Pole 99071, and the return address with the proper Zip Code number must be in the upper left hand corner of the envelope. East Liverpool's Zip Code is 43920.

An example of the return address might be Johnnie Doe, 123 Elfin St., East Liverpool, Ohio 43920.

The "letters to Santa" invitation is part of the Post Office Department's Christmas promotion encouraging universal use of Zip Code numbers by individual mailers, with all area Post Offices participating.

Increase Shown For Sales Taxes

Columbiana County sales tax collections total $445,860 since the fiscal year began July 1, an increase of $40,022 over the $405,838 shown in the corresponding period of 1962. State Treasurer John D. Herbert said in a report issued today at Columbus.

The taxes totaled $28,505 in the two weeks ending Nov. 2, a drop of $19,767 from the $48,272 shown in the corresponding period of 1962, he said.

Sales taxes on auto sales in the county stand at $235,048 for the fiscal year to date, a gain of $30,478 from the $204,570 shown in the same period of the preceding year. In the two weeks ending Nov. 2, the sales taxes on autos brought in $31,022, a gain of $331 from the $30,691 listed at the same time last year.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Coffee Friend: If you are one of those who like that half-cup-of-coffee during the day but hate to keep heating and reheating that coffee pot because it makes the coffee bitter . . . try putting the left-over coffee in a vacuum bottle and capping it as soon as breakfast is over.

This not only will save time later but you can wash the coffee pot while you are doing breakfast dishes and get the kitchen clean and completed all at the same time.

Then when you need that half-cup-of-coffee, pull the stopper out of the Thermos bottle and pour you a half-cup . . .

This not only saves you turning on the gas or connecting your coffee pot each time and having the coffee get stronger and stronger and more bitter, but it's ready in an instant.

This coffee will keep hot for hours and hours. If you have no vacuum bottle, it might pay to buy a small one.

We have had bachelors write that after preparing breakfast now, they pour the leftover coffee in a vacuum and when they come home from work they just unplug the stopper and have a wonderful cup-of-coffee instantly.

Really a great idea for those of you who are coffee friends.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: It finally dawned on me that I could brush our bed springs with liquid floor wax and eliminate the squeaks. Paste wax will do the same thing and probably allows for a much better job but I didn't have any.

I suggest that women dig their rag in any paste-type wax and run this around all the metal parts where metal scratches against metal, or metal against wood.

VERA N.

DEAR HELOISE: When I buy a pound of bacon, I heat my oven at 350 degrees and while the oven is pre-heating I spread the bacon on a wire cake rack—just barely overlapping each strip of bacon.

I bake this until most of the grease has baked out. Then I set the wire rack with the bacon on a large platter or pan until cool. I divide the bacon and lay it on sheets of wax paper and put it back in the refrigerator. It will keep a week or so (if your refrigerator is properly regulated) and never get "tacky" when reheated.

Instead of fatty pieces of bacon, which usually pucker, most of the grease will be gone. This is especially good for those who are on diets.

I.P.B.

DEAR HELOISE: When having company to dinner and you want baked canned corn in a hurry . . . Take a little saucepan and heat the can of creamed corn on top of the stove.

Then take a glass casserole dish and put a dab of butter right in the center of the dish. Do not bother spreading the butter around the casserole.

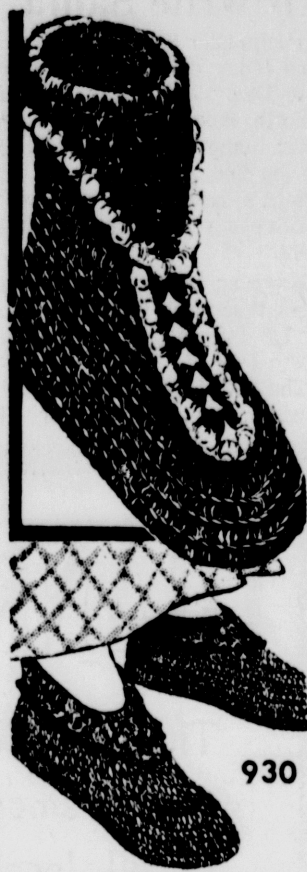

When the corn has heated in the little saucepan, pour this on top of the butter in the dish thereby allowing the butter to spread around the casserole, saving a greasy messy job.

Place this casserole in the oven and let it bake along with biscuits and roast (or whatever there may be for dinner that night.) This can also be varied by sprinkling the top with bread crumbs or some type of cereal.

Corn, peas, string beans, etc., can be done the same way. I always put a little butter on the top of any casserole dish before baking. The purpose is to save time!

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Growing Child Asserts Independence

How well we guide our children from 9 to 12 depends pretty largely on how well we have guided them up to 8 or 9.

Some parents who have succeeded in controlling their child and winning his cooperation up to 7, 8 or 9, may face new problems as he grows older.

For example, Dr. Garry Meyers the child who had accepted "No" or "Don't" as final may try to assert his independence during his early years at school. He may have begun to mingle with other children allowed more freedom than he has had.

Your child at five or six asked you, "May I go over to Jed's house?" but at 8 or 9 he may suddenly announce to you, one day, "I'm going over to Jed's house." Such an announcement comes at different ages for different children.

WHEN YOU FIRST hear it you may be shocked. I remember that I was, and I had difficulty to keep from saying, "You didn't ask my permission." I think you will discover, as I did, that such a rebuke is hardly wise.

If however, you have good reasons why he should not go to Jed's house, you might wisely tell him he must not go there then. Or you might properly ask him when he expected to return, or even tell him the time limit. But in most instances, you should express no astonishment and say nothing but wish him a good time.

His new type of assertion gives him a glow of self-regard and independence on which you might build well in your later relations with him.

You do want to know where he is or plans to be during periods of a few hours, especially after nightfall.

You simplify your problems when it is a family rule that he be practically always at home after lights appear, especially on nights preceding school. He needs to cultivate such habits to be able to do his school-assigned homework regularly once it begins.

IF THERE IS no homework after he begins to read, you should have him spend a reasonable period each evening reading other than comic books. Also if after homework assignments have begun, he occasionally or often says, "I have no homework tonight," you should require him to do some reading.

The child at 8, 12 or 14, who inclines to report, "No homework" when actually there is an assignment, will be far less tempted to make such a false statement if he must always do some mental work anyway.

Children who, in the middle and upper elementary grade, have been home regularly on nights before school and regularly did some real mental work, will have good preparation for doing homework later in junior or senior high.

There remains the problem of some reasonable regulation of activities on weekends. As a rule, the school child is least ready for classes on Monday. Work out with yours a program whereby he will regularly do homework on Friday, Saturday or Sunday evening.

My bulletins, "Parents Can Help Child Succeed at School" and "Parents and the Child's Homework", may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

DiSalle To Give Up Presidency Of Corporation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said Thursday night he is relinquishing his duties as president of a firm developing the new subdivision of Reston, Va., near Washington, D.C.

DiSalle said he wishes to devote more time to his law practice in Columbus.

The former Democratic chief executive said he will continue as special counsel to the Reston corporation but that the general management probably will be taken over personally by the developer, Robert Simon of New York.

DiSalle took the Virginia post early this year after losing the governor's chair to Republican James A. Rhodes.

His new announcement quickly gave rise to speculation he may have in mind a political comeback—perhaps in the 1964 U.S. Senate race.

The former names of Iran and Iraq were Persia and Mesopotamia, respectively.

'Red Slippers Murder Case'

Ohio To Review Parole Granted Convicted Slayer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Pardon and Parole Commission is going to review the parole it approved for 29-year-old Roy Schinagle, convicted in the famed "Red Slippers Murder Case" 10 years ago.

Schinagle, meanwhile, will remain in Ohio Penitentiary waiting for the release he expected Thursday.

A parole from his life sentence was approved last month for Schinagle, who had just turned 19 when arrested for strangling and beating pretty Cynthia Pfeil, 19, in a bizarre murder that began on the Ohio Wesleyan University campus in Delaware.

Schinagle's release was held up after Gov. James A. Rhodes' office heard and began checking reports that not all the members of the commission had been aware of the fact that Schinagle had been removed from honor status when they approved the parole.

The reports began circulating just a short time before Schinagle was to be released. In fact, Warden Ernie Maxwell already had the release papers.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, who first ordered the release delayed, said Schinagle allegedly misbehaved not long ago while working outside the prison as a trusty.

Saxbe said it was reported that Schinagle had been removing vases from a cemetery with the wife of a prison guard and that she introduced him to a woman whom Schinagle took home in a prison truck. It was for this that he was taken off honor status, Saxbe said.

Some commission members apparently knew of this when the parole was approved.

But after a review of the case, Rhodes ordered the release held up until it was certain that all members of the commission were acquainted with the facts.

Schinagle was a student at Ohio Wesleyan with aspirations for the ministry when he killed Cynthia, his girl friend, and dumped her body in woods near Upper Sandusky, Wyandot County.

Her face had been mutilated beyond recognition and all items of identification had been removed. She was wearing only a nightgown and a pair of red slippers.

665 Ohio Seniors Semi-Finalists In Scholarship Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some 665 seniors from 266 Ohio high schools are semi-finalists for National Merit Scholarships which will be awarded in five months, says Dr. E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction.

Preparing a report for delivery Monday to the State Board of Education, Holt noted also that 38 Ohio teachers have been awarded the Valley Forge Classroom Teacher's Medal by the Freedoms Foundation for exceptional service on conveying a better understanding of American life.

The superintendent said he will recommend approval of an agreement under which Warren's City Board of Education would pay the Warren Local Board of Education, Trumbull County, $11,047 as its share of bonded indebtedness resulting from a territory transfer.

Another recommendation Holt will make to the board urges approval of payment to Put-in-Bay Local School District's board of about $3 a day to transport an elementary school pupil from Ballest Island to South Bass Island.

London Police Keep Sex Story Off Stands

LONDON (AP)—Police kept one sex story, the 17th century novel "Fanny Hill," off British book stands today. The printers are stopping another, the life story of prostitute Mandy Rice-Davies.

A paperback edition of "Fanny Hill, Memoirs of a Woman of Pleasure," was scheduled to go on sale today, but Scotland Yard obtained a warrant against it under the Obscene Publications Act. Police seized thousands of copies Thursday night from the publisher.

Columbus Police Busy, Seek Two More In Holdup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Columbus police, already engaged in a hunt for two bank robbers of the day before, spread a dragnet for another pair of desperadoes Thursday night.

About 24 hours after the $15,000-plus holdup of the Ohio National Bank's Clintonville branch on the North Side, hold-up men wounded the 70-year-old owner and an employee of Edward P. Zipf's Bicycle & Lock Shop on the East Side.

Zipf, member of a longtime Columbus locksmith family, remained in critical condition today in St. Anthony Hospital. John Reis, 50, was in fair condition.

The bank robbers had been described as white. The robbers in Thursday's shooting were described as young Negro men.

Only an hour earlier, two men believed to have been the ones who entered Zipf's had attempted a robbery at a West Side carryout. Police said Andrew Gay, 72, tried to fight the robbers off with an icepick before he was struck in the face and a shot was fired which hit the store ceiling.

Need Cited For Ohio Child Aid Legislation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An AFL-CIO official has urged Ohio's lawmakers to consider legislation making the state eligible for the federal program of Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed. Secretary-Treasurer Robert D. Bollard of the Ohio AFL-CIO spoke Thursday before a group of state legislators who are studying welfare programs.

Such legislation is needed, Bollard said, because families of unemployed fathers are denied assistance under current laws unless the father has deserted. The labor official urged the Ohio Legislature to take up such legislation when it reconvenes Dec. 2.

1 Killed, 2 Injured In 2-Car Collision

Smile. You just passed 14 owners of Ohio Power

Why smile? Smile because they are your friends and neighbors. Smile, again, because the money they invested in Ohio Power has paid dividends to spend for other goods and services in your community.

The American Electric Power System, of which Ohio Power is a part, has over 58,000 shareowners. In addition to these shareowners, there are many more thousands of folks with savings accounts and life insurance policies that represent more dollars invested in Ohio Power.

This is the American way of doing business. It's free enterprise in action—ownership by voluntary investment and not by regulation.

Smile again when you look in a mirror. If you have a savings account, pension plan, life insurance, or pay dues to a union or fraternal organization, you're probably looking at a person whose money is earning money because it's invested in Ohio Power.

Resignation Action Tabled At Ohioville

Ohioville Borough Council took no action on the resignation of George Gailey Jr. as road foreman at its meeting Thursday night in the borough building.

Gailey submitted his resignation after being elected to Council in Tuesday's balloting.

Council also made a $1,000 contribution to the Ohioville volunteer fire department. A delegation of firemen told Council part of the money will be used to purchase 400 feet of hose.

A letter was read from the Midland police department authorizing borough police radios to continue to operate through the Midland hookup. Council recently authorized the purchase of two new radio units for the cruisers.

Mayor Elmer R. Gifford administered the oath to Special Patrolman James Petrella, and also gave a report on police activities for October.

Council agreed to hold a special meeting Nov. 25 at 8 p. m. for discussion and clarification of the building ordinance, and to consider bids for purchase of a snowplow attachment.

George Daniels Jr., president, expressed Council's appreciation to residents for not doing any burning during the drought.

Bills totaling $3,538 were approved. Next meeting is Dec. 5.

18 Crewmen Walk Off Jobs On Lake Tugs

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — Eighteen crewmen on four tugboats in Ashtabula and Conneaut, Ohio, and Erie, Pa., walked off their jobs Thursday night in a contract dispute between the Inland Boatman's Union and the Great Lakes Towing Co.

John Mero, business agent here for the Seaman's International Union, with which the Boatman's Union is affiliated, said the walkout was over a contract which has been under negotiation since April.

Two tugs are in Ashtabula and one each in Conneaut and Erie. Mero said he did not know how long the walkout would last. No shipping was affected Thursday night.

I wish to thank all who supported and voted for me in my candidacy for Wells-ville Board of Education. I will do my utmost to justify your faith in my eligibility. Thank you again.

National Debt

House Grudgingly Okays Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

DEBT: For the third time this year, the House Thursday grudgingly approved a temporary increase in the national debt limit, but only after throwing a scare into administration leaders.

The 187-179 vote that sent the legislation for a $315-billion ceiling to a more sympathetic Senate showed 147 Republicans and 32 Democrats opposing the increase and 187 Democrats supporting it.

Six months ago, the House voted a debt increase to $309 billion by a nine-vote margin. In August it continued the $309-billion top until the end of this month.

Without the pending extension, the ceiling would drop to $285 billion Nov. 30. That figure, the administration said, is too low to give the Treasury enough leeway to meet the government's fluctuating obligations.

The bill would hike the ceiling to $315 billion until next June 29 then drop it to $309 billion until next July 1.

Before passing the measure, the House turned down a Republican attempt to shuttle it back to the Ways and Means Committee for downward revision to around $311 billion.

NITZE: The Senate Armed Services Committee put Paul H. Nitze through the wringer Thursday, then delayed for a week a vote on his nomination by President Kennedy to be secretary of the Navy.

The three-hour hearing took some stormy turns. Although witnesses usually are not sworn, midway through the session Nitze was at the request of Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., who demanded he "tell the truth and nothing but the truth."

Nitze told the senators that he never advocated the United States turn its Strategic Air Command over to U.N. control. He said he tossed the idea into a national strategy seminar sponsored by the Stanford Research Institute in 1960 to "stimulate thought and discussion."

Nitze, now assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs, also declared himself opposed to any policy of appeasement toward Russia, the recognition of Red China, termination of the military draft law and unilateral disarmament.

ON THE MEND: Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., was released Wednesday from the Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md., where he was treated for a brain tumor.

It will be some time before Engle is back at his desk, the senator's physician, Dr. Roy Sexton, said Thursday, "but he plans to maintain daily contact with his staff and operations in his office will go forward on a 'business as usual basis.'"

Sexton said Engle's general health is good.

Senator Urges Press Take Look At Its Own Practices

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $250,000 Hollywood press junket has led to a suggestion by Sen. J. W. Fulbright that "the journalism profession take an honest look at its own practices."

Fulbright told the Senate Thursday that the junket came "at a time when the press is so quick to attach grave conflict-of-interest implications to the activities of others."

"Its responsibilities to the public in terms of honesty and integrity are not less than the responsibilities resting on those who serve that same public as elective and appointed officials."

Fulbright referred in his speech to an account of the junket published Thursday in the New York Times. According to the story by reporter Murray Schumach, motion picture producer Stanley Kramer brought about 250 reporters to Hollywood from 26 countries and 53 cities in the United States. The finale of the four-day visit was a viewing Sunday night of Kramer's new picture "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World."

The story said that five newspapers paid the expenses for their representatives.

Again referring to the Times account Fulbright said:

"Transportation for all the others as well as their hotel rooms, food and liquor bills were all paid by the movie maker."

"The financial 'hospitality' went so far that the movie maker even paid for the newsmen's cable and telephone charges run up sending stories—most of which the producer characterized as 'favorable'—back to their newspapers."

3 County Courts Pay $3,837 To Treasurer

LISBON — A total of $3,837.78 was paid to the county treasurer by the three County Courts during October, according to Carl L. Stacey, clerk of courts.

A breakdown shows $2,201.95 from State Highway Patrol fines and $1,635.83 in civil cases, criminal and civil costs.

The state treasurer received $1,457.55 for its 45 per cent of the patrol fines.

The courts at Salem, East Palestine and Lisbon handled 310 criminal and 62 civil cases during the month.

Sheriff, constable and city police fees amounted to $200.64, Stacey said.

State Library Book Lists 2 From County

Publications of two Columbiana County residents are listed in the Martha Kinney Cooper Ohioana Library Association annual record released this month.

They are Max Gard of Lisbon R.D. for his "The End of the Morgan Raid" and "Morgan's Raid Into Ohio," and Richard O. Wilson of East Liverpool for his reprinting of the East Liverpool Morning Tribune's "John Morgan's Raid" for the Columbiana County Historical Association.

Witness Says Domer Near Death Scene

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A witness at the Robert K. Domer murder trial has testified he saw Domer in a car April 3 or 4 in the Stark-Wayne County line area where the defendant's burning car with a body inside it was found nearly three weeks later.

Wellington Ketter, a farmer living near Dalton in Wayne County, positively identified Domer Thursday in Stark County Common Pleas Court, where three judges are hearing the trial of Domer on first-degree murder charges.

Domer, 44, a former Canton mortgage investment broker, is accused of killing Howard F. Riddle, 54-year-old Akron fruit peddler whose body was found in Domer's flaming car April 23 west of Massillon.

The state contends Riddle was killed in a manner to make it appear that Domer had committed suicide so his beneficiaries could collect an estimated $288,000 in insurance.

Ketter testified that he had gotten off the tractor he was operating on his farm when he saw a man sitting in a car parked at the berm of the county line road.

"I observed a large man with a hand over the left side of his face, against the window of the car," the witness said. "As I got off the tractor the man dropped his hand and looked at me through his fingers."

Ketter said he took down the license number of the car—the number that police later found on Domer's burned automobile.

Ketter said he notified authorities of the incident the day the burned car was found and later was shown a picture of Domer in the office of Asst. Prosecutor Richard Kauffman of Wayne County.

Plans for the event were completed at a meeting of the group Wednesday afternoon at the school library. Mrs. Betty Bradley is chairman. Thirty-five attended.

Business was conducted by Mrs. Helen Taylor, president, when a discussion was held on the Columbiana County Christmas Seal drive.

The group will prepare and serve a Boy Scout dinner March 21. Mrs. Clarence Wolfe will be chairman.

The program featured a talk by Robert Sprague, director of Junior Band. He told of his system of teaching.

Coffee and cookies were served by the committee.

Next meeting is Dec. 4.

France Making Bomb To Continue A-Tests

PARIS (AP)—France is turning out atomic bombs on an assembly-line basis and will continue nuclear tests to develop a hydrogen bomb regardless of protests at home and abroad, says Defense Minister Pierre Messmer.

He told the National Assembly Thursday the bombs had been coming off production lines since the middle of the year for France's Mirage IV jet planes.

A Gaullist deputy said 15 to 20 of the supersonic bombers would be operational by the end of 1964.

Transit Extension Set To Cleveland Airport

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Transit System Board has committed CTS to building a four-mile rapid transit extension to Cleveland Hopkins Airport by the end of 1968.

Three members voted to adopt a resolution to extend the rapid transit within five years. It will cost an estimated $13 million. The effect of Thursday's vote is that the transit system will not wait for federal funds to begin the extension.

Cuyahoga County has appropriated $5 million for grade separations and the city has passed an $800,000 bond issue to finance parking lots for the extension.

Chief Named For Firemen

Kenneth Mills of Lisbon St. was appointed chief of the Glenmoor volunteer fire department at a meeting of the Firemen's Association Thursday night at the Glenmoor fire station.

Mills, who had previously served as chief six and a half years, succeeds Frank Rizer.

An employee of the Mackintosh - Hemphill Division at Midland, Mills was named to a three-year term under the new arrangement in which the Executive Board appoints the chief for a term.

Mills named Rizer first assistant chief and Donald Parsons second assistant under the new provision, which allows the chief to name his aides.

Nomination of officers was held by the association for election Nov. 21.

Richard Wolfe was named chairman of the annual Christmas party to be held for area youngsters in December at the fire station.

Firemen granted permission to the Pennova Citizens Band Radio Club to hold meetings at the fire station.

The firemen will meet Thursday.

Plans for the trip were completed at a meeting of the group Thursday afternoon at the Parish Hall of the St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Frank Shone, president, presided and 104 including two guests and a new member, attended.

The Rev. John Clark, pastor of the First Methodist Church, opened with devotions.

An art and craft session followed with about 25 members participating. Next meeting is Thursday afternoon.

Southern Local Board Will Convene Monday

School finances and revision of the school calendar to make up for days lost with the delay of the opening of the Southern Local District will be aired at a meeting of the Board of Education Monday night at 7 at the high school near Salineville.

Jack Baker, executive head, said the board is expected to consider readjustments in the school program as a result of the defeats of an operating levy and a proposed bond issue to enlarge the high school.

The district began classes four days late in September because the new high school was not ready. The teachers have recommended the spring term — due to end May 31 — be extended to June 4 to make up the days lost.

Jackson Voted Top Coach . . .

The coach-of-the-year in the Northern Lakes League should be well known to East Liverpool fans. Don "Bulldog" Jackson, stellar center of the undefeated 1945 ELHS grid squad, won that honor after his Rossford High team completed its first undefeated season since 1932.

Since Don became head coach at the Northwestern Ohio school, the team, which by coincidence is called the Bulldogs, has won 21 games, lost three and tied three for an impressive record.

Rossford also is the smallest member of the Northern Lakes League. This week in the Associated Press poll, Rossford was listed 16th in the state.

2 High Schools At Warren . . .

A DECLINE may show up in Warren athletics in the near future.

On Tuesday, a bond issue was passed for another high school in Warren, dividing the enrollment at the present Harding High, which is bulging with 2,561 students in the upper three grades.

With the new high school, Harding would be reduced to 1,964 students and the new west side school would have 1,673. East Liverpool competes in basketball with Warren in the Big 8 Conference.

A similar situation occurred in Hamilton, which had been a powerhouse in football. The city was divided and sports soon declined.

Potters Picked In Finale . . .

THIS IS IT, the final week of high school football. And after this weekend we can pitch the crystal ball out the window.

Apologies are in order to Oak Glen and its followers since we goofed on last week's prediction and several Oak Glen fans reminded me of the wrong choice.

We'll lead off with the East Liverpool-Alliance game tonight, which pits two evenly-matched teams. We're leaning to the Potters in this one because we feel there are a bunch of seniors who want to go all out in the final. East Liverpool 20, Alliance 14.

Oak Glen might have a little too much to handle in a strong Winterville team which has won its last eight games, but the Golden Bears surprised us last week. Winterville in this one, 14-12.

Austintown Fitch has a powerful outfit to pit against Midland tonight. Austintown 27, Midland 13.

In other games, Canfield should roll over Leetonia, 34-0. East Palestine to nip Columbiana, 22-20. Lisbon a 26-14 choice over United and Geneva to top Salem, 20-12.

The big one Saturday will take place at Patterson Field in what should be an even battle all the way. Beaver Local won last year and we'll stick with the Beavers again, 22-14.

In one other game Saturday, Jackson Milton 22, Southern Local 6.

Wolfe dropped us a line and wanted to know the outcome of the East Junior-Westgate game.

Steelers Picked To Upset Browns; Giants, Green Bay Are Given Nod

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Pittsburgh is primed for an all-out effort against the Cleveland Browns Sunday before Pittsburgh's largest pro crowd, 55,000—and a Steeler victory would turn the Eastern Conference race of the National Football League into a wild scramble.

The lead changed hands seven times when they met Oct. 5 in Cleveland, where Frank Ryan thrilled 84,684 fans with three touchdown passes in the Browns' come-from-behind 35-23 victory.

Jimmy Brown is back in stride but Ryan has been shaky since the New York Giants climbed all over him. Unless Ryan gets back on the beam, the Steelers could upset the Browns.

The New York Giants, who took over second place last week, are favored to keep on rolling against a battered Philadelphia team. St. Louis, derailed by the Giants, is due to pick it up again against Washington.

The Western Conference leaders, the Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears, are supposed to win handily, unless they spend too much time looking ahead to their Nov. 17 rematch at Wrigley Field. The Packers play Minnesota in Green Bay while the Bears meet Los Angeles in Chicago.

In other NFL Sunday action, it will be Detroit at Baltimore fighting for third place in the West and Dallas at San Francisco.

San Diego's powerful Chargers, with Tobin Rote clicking on all cylinders, play at Boston Sunday in a game that might be a preview of the American Football League title game.

Houston is at home to the New York Jets in the other Sunday game. Oakland plays at Kansas City Friday night and Denver is at Buffalo Saturday night.

Ten out of 11 got us even in the AFL for the season (14-14-2) and we're 40-15-1 in the NFL for a season total of 54-29-3.

Here goes again:

NFL
Pittsburgh 27, Cleveland 24—An upset. The Steelers led last time 23-21 going into the last period after being stopped on the 2 and the two-foot mark. Ed Brown moving the Steelers steadily and they should win if the defense can escape that second-half letdown.

New York 31, Philadelphia 21—Allie Sherman may have trouble getting the Giants up after two big games. But the Eagles are hurting.

Green Bay 27, Minnesota 14—Scrambling Fran Tarkenton seems to give Packer defense trouble but Green Bay is just too good. If it's tight, Vince Lombardi always can go to Jerry Kramer for a field goal.

Chicago 31, Los Angeles 10—Rams are improved but not that much. Bears' defense will clobber Roman Gabriel and Bill Wade will pick away at Rams with balanced ball control game.

St. Louis 21, Washington 17—Charlie Johnson will find Redskins' secondary a picnic after last week. Washington pass defense has yielded 19 TDs in eight games. Injuries to Bill Triplett and Joe Childress will hurt Cards' ground game.

Detroit 24, Baltimore 20—An upset for the Lions, who bowed to Colts 25-21 last month. Colts can't run and Lions murder passers.

Dallas 21, San Francisco 17—Could be trouble for the Cowboys with Jim Ray Smith and Lee Roy Jordan out of action. San Francisco offense mediocre despite Dallas's defensive weakness.

Alliance Has Won Last 6 Contests

The East Liverpool Potters can kill a couple of birds with one stone tonight with a victory over Alliance at Hartshorn Stadium.

In addition to trying to snap Alliance's six-game victory streak over them, the Potters also are shooting for an 8-2 record, which would be the best since 1956, the last year a Potter team defeated Alliance.

The Aviators have another streak on the line, too. They haven't been beaten at home in 20 games.

Both teams go into tonight's game with 7-2 slates. The kickoff will be at 8.

Seventeen Potter seniors will wear the Blue and White for the last time tonight, with 11 of this group in the starting lineup. Coach Bob Hedmond will lose the following:

Regulars Randy Stover, Bill Hall, Bud Manley, Dave Oliver, Bruce Burbick, Ron Echols, Jim Hughes, Bob Forzano, Bob Bowyer, John DiPasquale and Earl Olmstead and substitutes Tom Stepien, Terry Nusser, Tom Baker, Jack Tarr, Steve Mathess and Tom Chema.

Over Alliance way, Coach Mel Knowlton said, "This game will be a tough one to win and we'll have to go all out to get it. It will be a typical East Liverpool team, big, fast scrappy as the dickens, with a good running quarterback, a very good fullback and a wild offense."

Knowlton added that, "East Liverpool is a good sound all-around club and this is the same team practically that came to Alliance two years ago as sophomores."

Knowlton explained what he meant by "wild" offense. "It is not a multiple offense, but they have the belly series and the excellent quarterback who scares you on every play. They run right up to the line of scrimmage and shoot a pass or they start around end, see the way is blocked and cut back and go the other way."

Alliance's chief threat since Win Young, the leading scorer and ground gainer, was injured is halfback John Blaser, a 155-pounder who has a lot of power for his size.

Doug Wade, the Aviators' quarterback, is another threat. He has thrown for seven touchdowns this season. The leading lineman is Ray Ketter, a guard, who is reported as very aggressive.

Alliance has been beaten twice this season. One loss came at the hands of Massillon, the top team in the state, 28-0, and the other was to Canton McKinley, 41-0.

Kansas City Tries To End Skid Tonight

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Now that other American Football League clubs have stopped pointing for them, maybe Kansas City's defending champs can end a four-game losing streak against Oakland tonight in Kansas City.

The Chiefs' skid has carried them to a last-place tie with Denver at 2-5-1 in the Western Division. Oakland, 5-4, is a surprising second behind San Diego 6-2, in the West and needs a victory to stay in the running. The Raiders beat the Chiefs 10-7 last Sunday.

Denver plays at Buffalo, 4-4-1. Saturday night with the Bills favored to keep their late title push alive in the tight Eastern Division race. Houston, Eastern co-leader at 5-4 with Boston, faces New York, 3-4-1, at Houston while Boston plays host to San Diego in the two Sunday games.

One fact indicates the other AFL clubs have been pointing for the Chiefs. Only once in eight games has a team won the week after playing the Chiefs.

Akron Central's Grid Coach Dies

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Felix Latona, head football coach at Central High School here, was pronounced dead at St. Vincent Hospital Thursday shortly after he collapsed in the locker room at Old Forge Field.

He had turned over his team to Asst. Coach Fred Maligio after complaining of stomach pains near the end of a practice session in preparation for Central's game Saturday against Buchtel High School here.

Latona, 44, had been head coach at Central since 1948 and last year produced a team that tied with South High School for the Akron City League title.

Hayes To Divide Time On 3 Tilts

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—All-ways-cautious football coaches say they play games one at a time—but Ohio State's Woody Hayes will divide his attention among three contests Saturday.

Realizing he needs some outside aid to win the Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl bid, Woody will have his eye on the home-town battle between his Buckeyes and Penn State—and his ears on important happenings at Lafayette, Ind., and Champaign, Ill.

The scrap with the Nittany Lions is a non-conference event with no bearing on the league laurels. But Illinois and Michigan State, deadlocked at the top of the heap at 3-0-1 with the Bucks, must turn back conference foes to stay in the race.

Michigan, 1-2-1 in the circuit after whumping Northwestern 15-7 last week, invades Illinois. If Michigan beats the Illini, a big hurdle is out of the Buckeye path.

Purdue, 2-2 in the loop with victories over Michigan and Iowa, is host to Michigan State's Spartans, and the Boilermakers could push aside the other Buckeye challenger.

Another Ohio hope rests of the fact the Illini and Spartans meet in the season's finale Nov. 23. If Ohio gets by Northwestern and Michigan in its final games, the Bucks could slip into the king row while the enemy duo is carving up each other.

Despite the fact this is a non-loop fray, Hayes would like to win it. The Lions have triumphed twice in two starts against the Bucks, and they bring a 5-2 record to town for the 2 p.m. regionally televised kickoff.

A pair of unusual athletes will get a lot of attention. Tom Barrington of Lima is the hot Ohioan, while Gary Klingensmith is the Nittany standout. The latter is a left halfback, while Barrington is apt to pop up anywhere in the ball-toting corps.

In only two games, Barrington, a sophomore, has the third-best rushing total on the Ohio team, 153 yards in 31 carries.

Klingensmith, a junior halfback, is completely deaf. He reads the quarterback's lips to get the play in the huddle, counts the cadence from memory to get the starting signal, and has been offside only once in his career.

Bowling Green, Marshall Battle For Mid-Am Lead

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
A big swing in the top spots of the Mid-American and Ohio conferences could hinge on Saturday's frays as the state's colleges offer an action-packed 26-game football program.

The big ones are at Huntington, W. Va., with Bowling Green's defending champions invading pace - setting Marshall with the Mid-Am lead hanging in the balance; and Denison at Oberlin and Akron at Wittenberg, with four of the five Ohio Conference leaders facing each other.

Back in 1957 Marshall won its first four games in the rugged Mid-American, then lost the last two for its only winning season in the loop. Today, with a 2-0-1 mark, the Thundering Herd is all alone at the peak, the Falcons holding second with 3-1-0.

Denison, the statewide leader with 7-0 and the lone clean-record team in the Ohio Conference, has beaten Oberlin nine straight times. But the Yeomen, after losing their first two—including a 52-0 jolt by Hiram—have won four in a row and could turn in a giant-killing act against the Big Red. Oberlin has a 3-1 league record to tie Baldwin-Wallace for fourth.

Akron (5-1-0) is third and Wittenberg (5-0-1) is second, so the stage is set for the classic at Springfield. If Denison falls, the Zipper-Tiger winner takes the lead.

Miami, surprise winner over Bowling Green last week, entertains lowly Toledo, and Western Michigan invades Ohio University for Mid-American contests—with Miami and Ohio U. still having a chance at the crown.

Other Ohio Conference games send Wooster to Marietta, Hiram to Kenyon, Muskingum to Capital and Otterbein to Ohio Wesleyan, the latter under the lights.

Unbeaten John Carroll (5-0-0) could wrap up the Presidents' Conference laurels by beating Thiel on the Pennsylvania grid. Also on the loop's slate are Bethany at Western Reserve and Case Tech at Wayne State.

The non-conference list is replete with good ones, headlined by Penn State at Ohio State, North Texas State at Cincinnati, Dayton at Wichita, Texas Western at Xavier (N) and Louisville at Kent State.

Also scheduled are Wabash at Heidelberg, Hillsdale at Ohio Northern, Central State at South Carolina State, Defiance at Anderson, Baldwin-Wallace at Geneva, Mount Union at Ashland (N), Adrian at Bluffton (N), Waynesburg at Findlay (N) and Alma at Wilmington (N).

Baylor's Trull Can Prove Himself Against Longhorns

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Baylor football Coach John Bridger is an ebullient man who wants to tell the world about "my boy Trull." He does so at every opportunity.

And some of the comparisons he makes involving Baylor quarterback Don Trull are at once refreshing and a little awe-inspiring. Listen:

"My boy Trull," proclaims Bridger, "is the best quarterback I've ever seen anywhere or anytime or on any football field. And that goes for Baugh, O'Brien, Lujack, Graham, Unitas or even Tittle."

Which is rather rarified company. But Trull's credentials are all in order. He leads the nation in passing and total offense. In six games he has a total of 1,491 yards and has completed 106 of 185 passes for 1,408 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Trull gets his chance to prove all this Saturday at Austin, Tex., when he leads the bulky Bears against unbeaten Texas, the nation's top-ranked college team.

The game looms as the top attraction on the national schedule and probably the last really big stumbling block on the Longhorns' path to the national championship. Their only other games are against Texas Christian, 3-2-1, and Texas A&M, 1-5-1.

The Bears are unranked, but have an impressive 5-1 mark, losing only to Oregon State. They've beaten Houston, Arkansas, Texas Tech, Texas A&M and TCU.

The Longhorns have won seven in a row, but the margin of victory in the last three totals only 13 points.

Each, of course, is unbeaten in the Southwest Conference and the winner probably will get the host spot in the Cotton Bowl. Baylor hasn't won the title in 40 years.

Most of the rest of the ranked teams also have their work cut out for them, with only No. 3 Mississippi scheduled for a breather. Ol' Miss, 5-0-1, has a home game against little Tampa, No. 7 Alabama is idle.

Second-ranked Illinois, 5-0-1, is at home to a Michigan team that may be better than its 2-3-1 record would indicate and No. 4 Navy could have its hands full with Maryland, 2-5. The Middies, led by Roger Staubach, take a 6-1 record into the game at the Naval Academy.

Auburn, at 6-0 one of the three remaining unbeaten, untied teams in major college circles, risks its No. 5 standing against tough Mississippi State, 4-2-1, at Jackson, Miss.

Oklahoma, pounding along toward another Big Eight title and ranked sixth at 5-1, is home to Iowa State, 4-3. No. 8 Pitt, 5-1, is at Notre Dame, 2-4. No. 9 Michigan State, 4-1-1, is at Purdue, 3-3, and No. 10 Ohio State, 4-1-1, is host to Penn State, 5-2, in one of three games scheduled for regional television coverage.

The other television games are Northwestern, 4-3, at Wisconsin, 4-2, and Arkansas, 4-3, at Rice, 4-2.

Princeton, 6-0 and the only other unbeaten, untied, visits Harvard for an Ivy League game.

Warriors Top Knicks Easily

By The Associated Press
The San Francisco Warriors are a new team as far as New York Knicks' Coach Eddie Donovan is concerned, but he still has a prominent reminder of last year's poor Warrior play—his own team.

The Warriors swamped the Knicks 110-68 Thursday night in San Francisco.

"With the two big guys in there, they limit you to just one shot," said Donovan, summing up Thursday's defeat.

The two are Wilt Chamberlain, holder of many National Basketball Association scoring records, and Nate Thurmond, 6-11 rookie from Bowling Green.

They played together for about 20 minutes—Chamberlain at center, Thurmond at forward, and helped the Warriors turn a close game into a rout with a 34-14 edge in the third period.

Chamberlain scored 23 points. Last year the Warriors were a distant fourth in the Western Division thanks to almost no teamwork.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Little Old Lady Upsets 'Top 40'

Bob Newhart (he won TV's 1962 Peabody Award, remember?) says he can prove something is wrong with those all-important Nielsen ratings which came out last week. "My old NBC show popped up in Nielsen's 'Top 40' and two sponsors called the network to buy Hal Humphrey spots on it," Bob reports. "When NBC had to tell them I was canceled two seasons ago, they demanded to know how come I was on the Nielsen list."

Hal Humphrey

"What did NBC say to that?"

"NBC NEVER says anything. But I did get a call from one of the vice presidents who wanted to know if I'd like to go back on the air. He said it was a shame to be off with a rating like mine."

"And how did all of this happen?"

"Well," sighs Bob, "It seems a little old lady in Arkansas had forgotten to mail in her Nielsen tape from December 1961 and she always watched me and Mitch Miller. She found it in a pile of knitting and mailed it last month."

"And has Mr. Nielsen caught up with this error yet?"

"Oh, sure. He went to Arkansas personally, made the little old lady turn in her Audimeter, then shot her just as she was tuning in 'The Beverly Hillbillies.'"

BOB CAN JOKE about the Nielsen ratings now because he is one of the fortunate few without a weekly TV show. Since those first super-duper national Nielsen figures were announced last week, half of Hollywood has been screaming for a sedative. The other half is wearing smiles, but only rented ones.

When Bob Hope's new drama series didn't show in Nielsen's vaunted "Top 40," his faithful press agent hurriedly scrounged up a figure to prove that Bob's comedy specials ranked No. 7 in Nielsen's computation of TV specials.

Joey Bishop was yelling "Foul!" He was listed as No. 35, but actually he was in a dead heat with "Outer Limits" for the No. 34 spot.

LAWRENCE WELK and Walt Disney were tied for 22nd place, a fact which inspired one wag to suggest that somebody is missing a bet by not introducing a polka-dancing mouse to TV.

"The Beverly Hillbillies," which Bob Hope referred to as the "outhouse in the vast wasteland" last season, is still No. 1. Paul Henning, producer of "Hillbillies," has a new show ("Petticoat Junction") now, and it is No. 5. That gives Henning the last laugh on Mr. Hope.

Donna Reed, who has been threatening to quit TV for the last three years, grabbed off the No. 10 spot. Rumor has it that her producer-husband, Tony Owen, not only has talked her into five more seasons, but has almost convinced her that she can beat out Sen. Barry Goldwater for next year's Republican nomination.

ONE-TENTH of a Nielsen point separates "Ben Casey" and "Dr. Kildare" in a battle for No. 14, and "Kildare" won. The only possible answer for such a disparity is Vince (Casey Edwards) refusal to smile when he performs appendectomies. "The Ozzie and Harriet" show and "My Three Sons" tied for the No. 25 slot. Ozzie and Harriet Nelson ultimately are bound to win this race when their grandchildren become old enough to sit in front of a TV set.

Richard Boone, whose old "Have Gun, Will Travel" series used to ride high in the Nielsen race, doesn't even show in the "Top 40" with his new and fine series of dramas this season.

Is this significant? Of course it is. It means that four little old ladies in Iowa and two teenagers in North Dakota prefer "Petticoat Junction" to Boone.

NEVERTHELESS, we are all caught up in this "Top 40" business. TV has borrowed it from the rock 'n' rollers who have their "Top 40."

It shouldn't be long before the Democrats and Republicans resort to a "Top 40" selection of legislative bills most popular with the voters.

And the important thing is to get rid of anything and anybody who can't make the "Top 40."

Who needs 'em? Forty of anything should be enough.

Resolution Asks Church Free Self Of Segregation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The United Church of Christ must free itself of segregation, members of its Ohio Conference say in a newly adopted resolution. The resolution was agreed upon Thursday at the close of a two-day session to organize the new Ohio Conference, which is a result of union of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and Congregational Christian Churches.

It states that constituent congregations should declare officially their willingness to receive qualified persons into membership, call pastor and employ church staff, and include all persons of the community in evangelism programs without regard to race, class or ethnic background.

Dr. Erston M. Butterfield of Cleveland, new president of the Ohio Conference, asserted Thursday that the church must "take its stand solidly, vocally and aggressively on the side of justice, mercy, forgiveness, individual dignity and human rights."

Tax Liens Are Filed Against Ex-Recorder

CLEVELAND (AP)—Internal Revenue Service agents have filed federal income tax liens totaling $9,581 in the Cuyahoga County Recorder's Office against former Recorder Frank S. Day, who is now in Ohio Penitentiary.

The liens, filed Thursday, covered allegedly undeclared income for the years 1957 through 1962, plus a 50 per cent fraud penalty and interest. Jack A. McIver, head of the Delinquent Accounts Division in the IRS Cleveland office, said the 50 per cent penalty—which is included in the $9,581 total—is levied in cases where the taxpayer deliberately fails to report all his income.

Day pleaded guilty to charges of payroll fraud and forgery during his trial last August and resigned from office. He is serving a 1-20-year term.

Lausche Heads Unit

Crash Report Data Differs

Two motorists supplied police with widely differing versions of the cause after a collision involving their autos Thursday night at 11 on E. 6th St.

Damaged in the mishap were a 1955 station wagon owned by James Lawrence, 324 Blakeley St. and a 1955 model auto owned by Lee W. McDole, 1702 Alpha St., officers said.

Lawrence told police his vehicle was parked and McDole's car, backing into a parking space, hit the rear bumper and fender.

McDole told officers he was not driving his auto. He said he was a passenger and the car was being driven by an Allan Darr. But McDole said his auto did not bump Lawrence's, officers said.

Another collision on E. 5th St. at Walnut St. at 11:39 a.m. Thursday involved a 1962 sedan driven by Frank R. Early, 53, of Egg Harbor, N. J., and a 1961 model truck driven by Robert L. Sturtz, 29, of Salem R. D. 1 and owned by the United Parcel Service of Cleveland.

Both vehicles were eastbound in parallel lanes on E. 5th St., officers said. Early, in the center lane, said he thought he had the right of way but the truck pulled in front of him. Sturtz said he was making a left turn from E. 5th to Walnut when he heard the sound of a collision and stopped.

The crash damaged the left side and right front fender, bumper and lights of the New Jersey car and scratched the left side of the truck, officers said.

The secret ballot used in the U. S. originated in Australia.

Junior Editors Quiz on HIGHWAYS

QUESTION: Why are some roads called highways?

ANSWER: We usually think of highways as being big, important roads, but we don't think of them as being higher than other roads. Yet there was a time when the highway actually was built up high, and it was from this that it got its name.

After the invention of the wheel, about 3,500 B.C., roads began to appear, for people were using wagons to haul trade goods. The Romans were especially skillful road builders. But many of the first roads were so muddy that they were almost impassable. In England, an attempt was made to improve these. In building certain important roads, the earth was thrown in toward the center, raising the road's level higher than surrounding land. This provided drainage, making roads drier and much better to travel over. A road like this became known as the "King's Highway". This did not mean that only the king could pass over it; it meant the road was protected by the king's men. Smaller, privately built roads were called "by-ways". People spoke of traveling "by the highways and the byways". So the custom of calling a large road a highway has come down to our time.

FOR YOU TO DO: Old roads are romantic and fascinating. See if you can find some in your locality and discover where they lead. You can often spot them because of the old houses built alongside.

Margaret Pries of St. Catharines, Ont., Canada, wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

Freeman Says Ohio's Farm Income Up Yearly Since '60

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, appearing in Ohio a second time in three weeks, said Thursday night he feels the Kennedy administration's rural programs have been gaining support among the farm populace.

"Here in Ohio," Freeman told a news conference, "I believe the figures show that the average per capita farm income has increased $300 a year since 1960."

He was in Columbus to address an Ohio Food for Peace Forum at Ohio State University.

On Oct. 22 he was in Columbus Grove, Putnam County, for the last of his series of "report and review" grass - roots meetings with farmers.

Those meetings, Freeman said, convinced him that the majority of farmers want a federal agricultural program; that the majority believe price supports are necessary, and that those opposing government controls represent a "small but militant minority."

Freeman lauded the Ohioans for arranging the one-day forum. He called the Food for Peace program one of the most important and promising ventures ever undertaken in international relations, and suggested a "products for peace" program might be another.

"We should explore ways of using the surplus that is represented by idle factories and idle workers to produce goods that might be used in a sort of 'products for peace' program," he said.

"We will never really enjoy the age of abundance on a worldwide scale until we broaden our vision to include a consideration of both trade and aid, as they can work together toward that goal."

Methodist Bishop, 101, Due At Wesleyan U. Dedication

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Methodist Bishop Herbert Welch who turned 101 Thursday, is expected here Saturday for dedication of an Ohio Wesleyan University residence hall named for him.

Chosen to unveil a portrait of the bishop, OWU's fifth president, is Johnny Grotta. Johnny is 8—and a good friend of Bishop Welch, who now resides in New York.

Young Johnny first met the bishop in October 1962 when the former university president attended the inauguration of President Elden T. Smith. Bishop Welch was staying with friends who lived in Johnny's neighborhood here, and the boy—fascinated by the idea of a man who had seen a century of life—met him through neighbors.

Less than a month later, while Bishop Welch was being honored in New York on his 100th birthday, he received word that Johnny had been hit by a truck and was hospitalized with a broken leg.

The bishop wrote his young friend some notes and sent him a picture of himself, one of Johnny's cherished possessions. The "old" friends are eagerly looking forward to Saturday's reunion. Johnny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grotta. His father is with Battelle Institute, the research center in Columbus.
